

The characters in the stories

Cronus
The father of Zeus

Rhea
The wife of Cronus

Zeus

The king of gods

Hera

The queen of the gods and the goddess of marriage

Hades

The god of the Underworld

Athena

The goddess of wisdom

Apollo

The god of the sun and medicine

Artemis

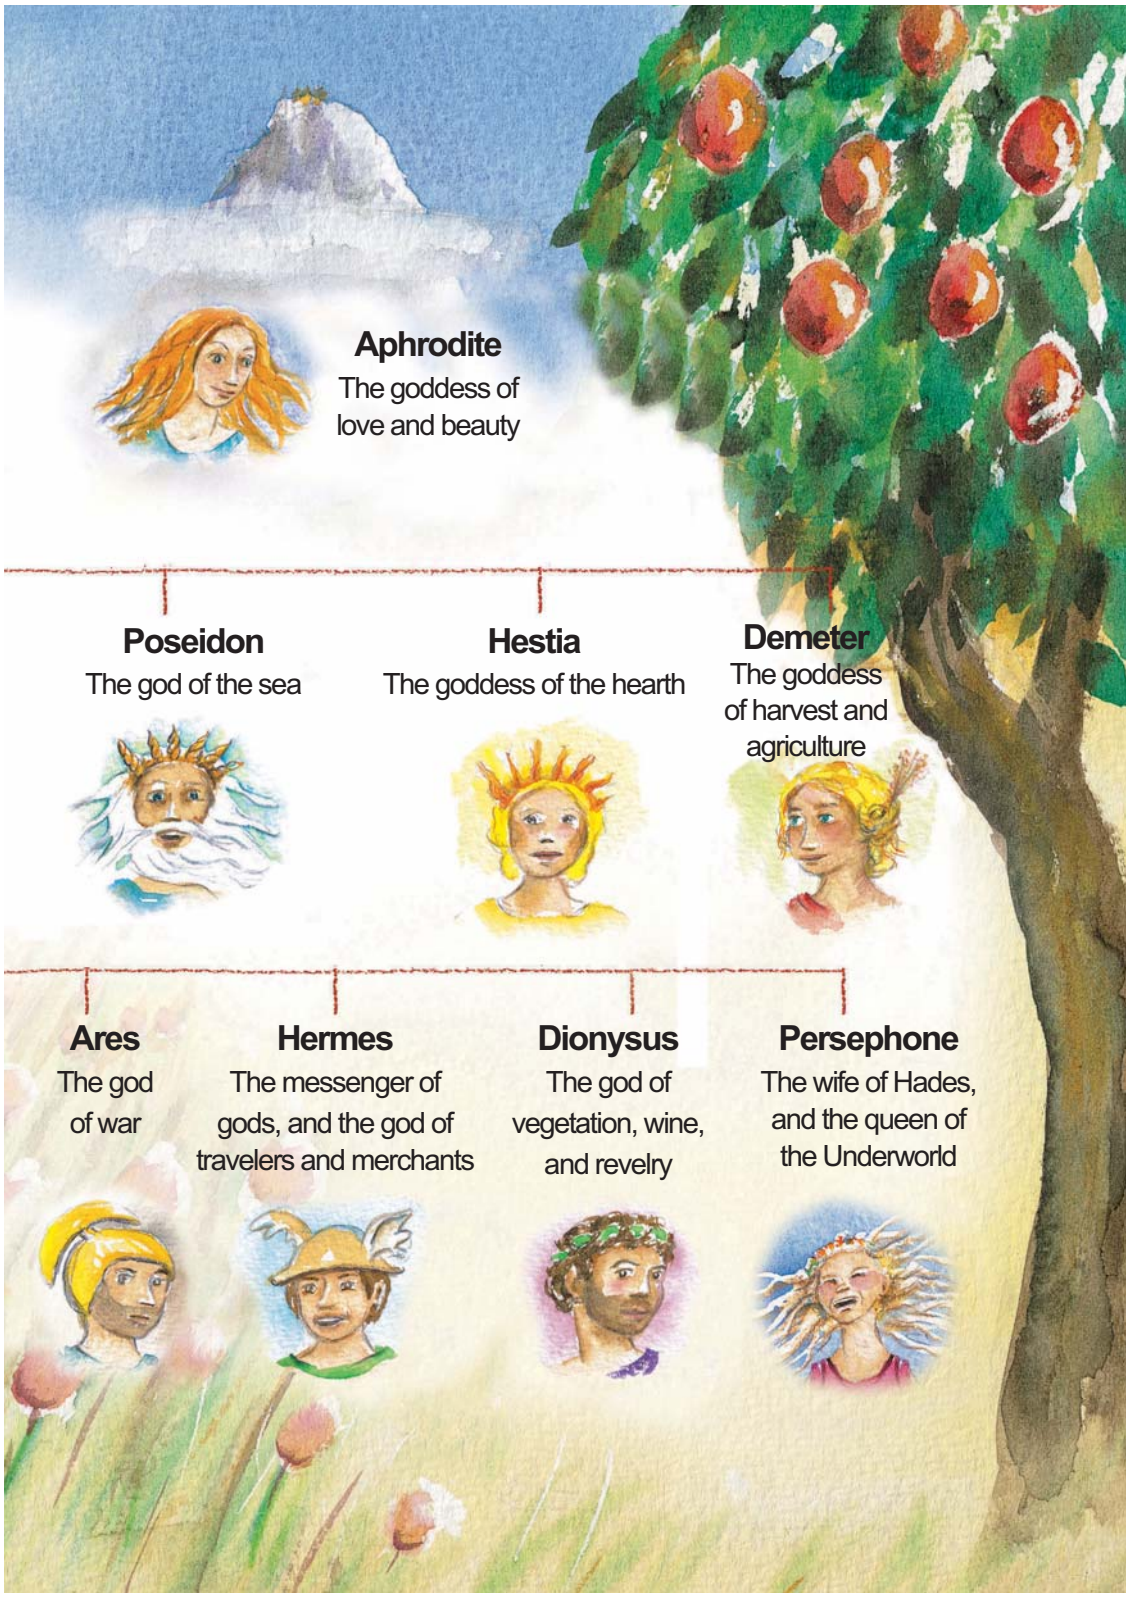

The goddess of the moon and hunt

Hephaestus

The god of fire and smiths

Aphrodite
The goddess of love and beauty

Poseidon
The god of the sea

Hestia
The goddess of the hearth

Demeter
The goddess of harvest and agriculture

Ares
The god of war

Hermes
The messenger of gods, and the god of travelers and merchants

Dionysus
The god of vegetation, wine, and revelry

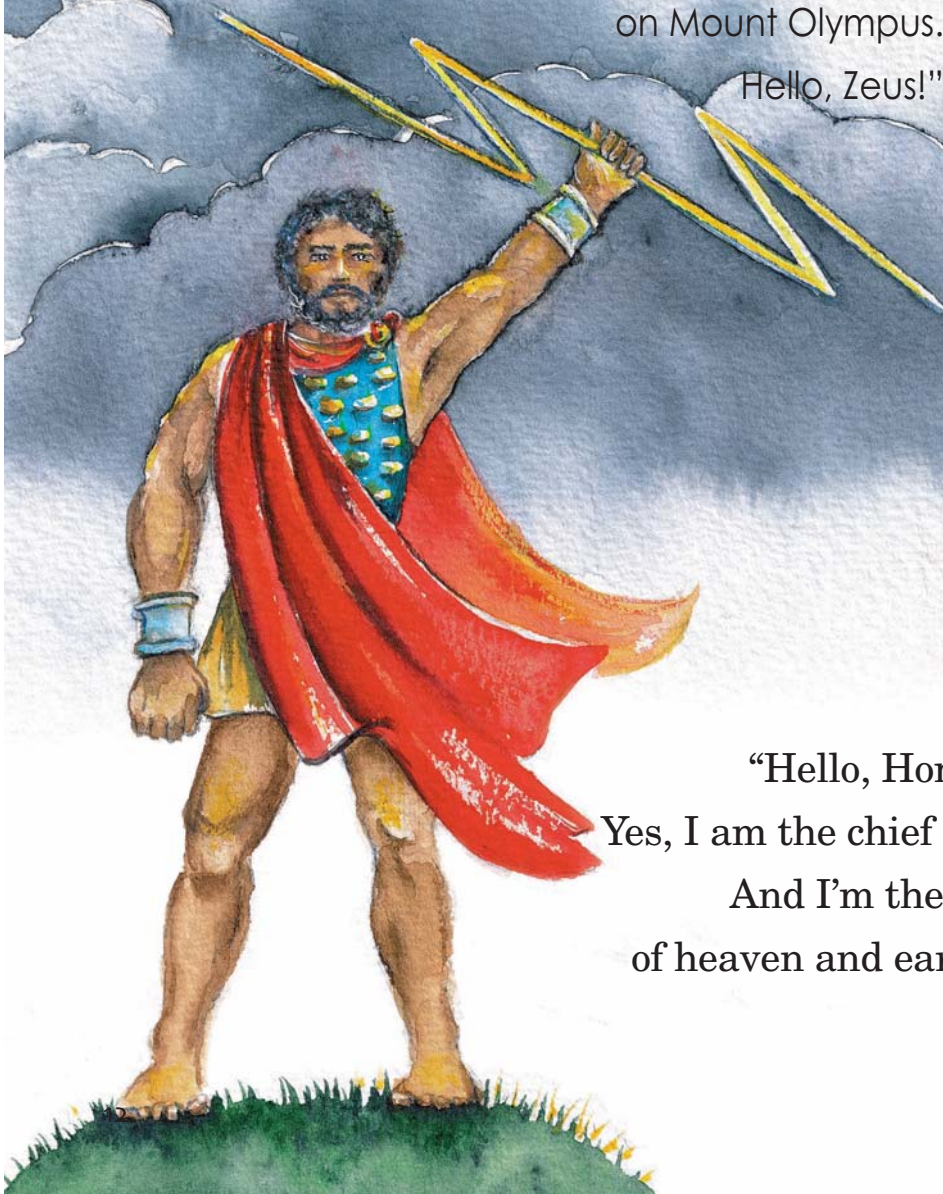

Persephone
The wife of Hades, and the queen of the Underworld

Zeus

"This is Zeus. He is the king of the gods.
His parents are Cronus and Rhea.
He is the most powerful god
on Mount Olympus.
Hello, Zeus!"

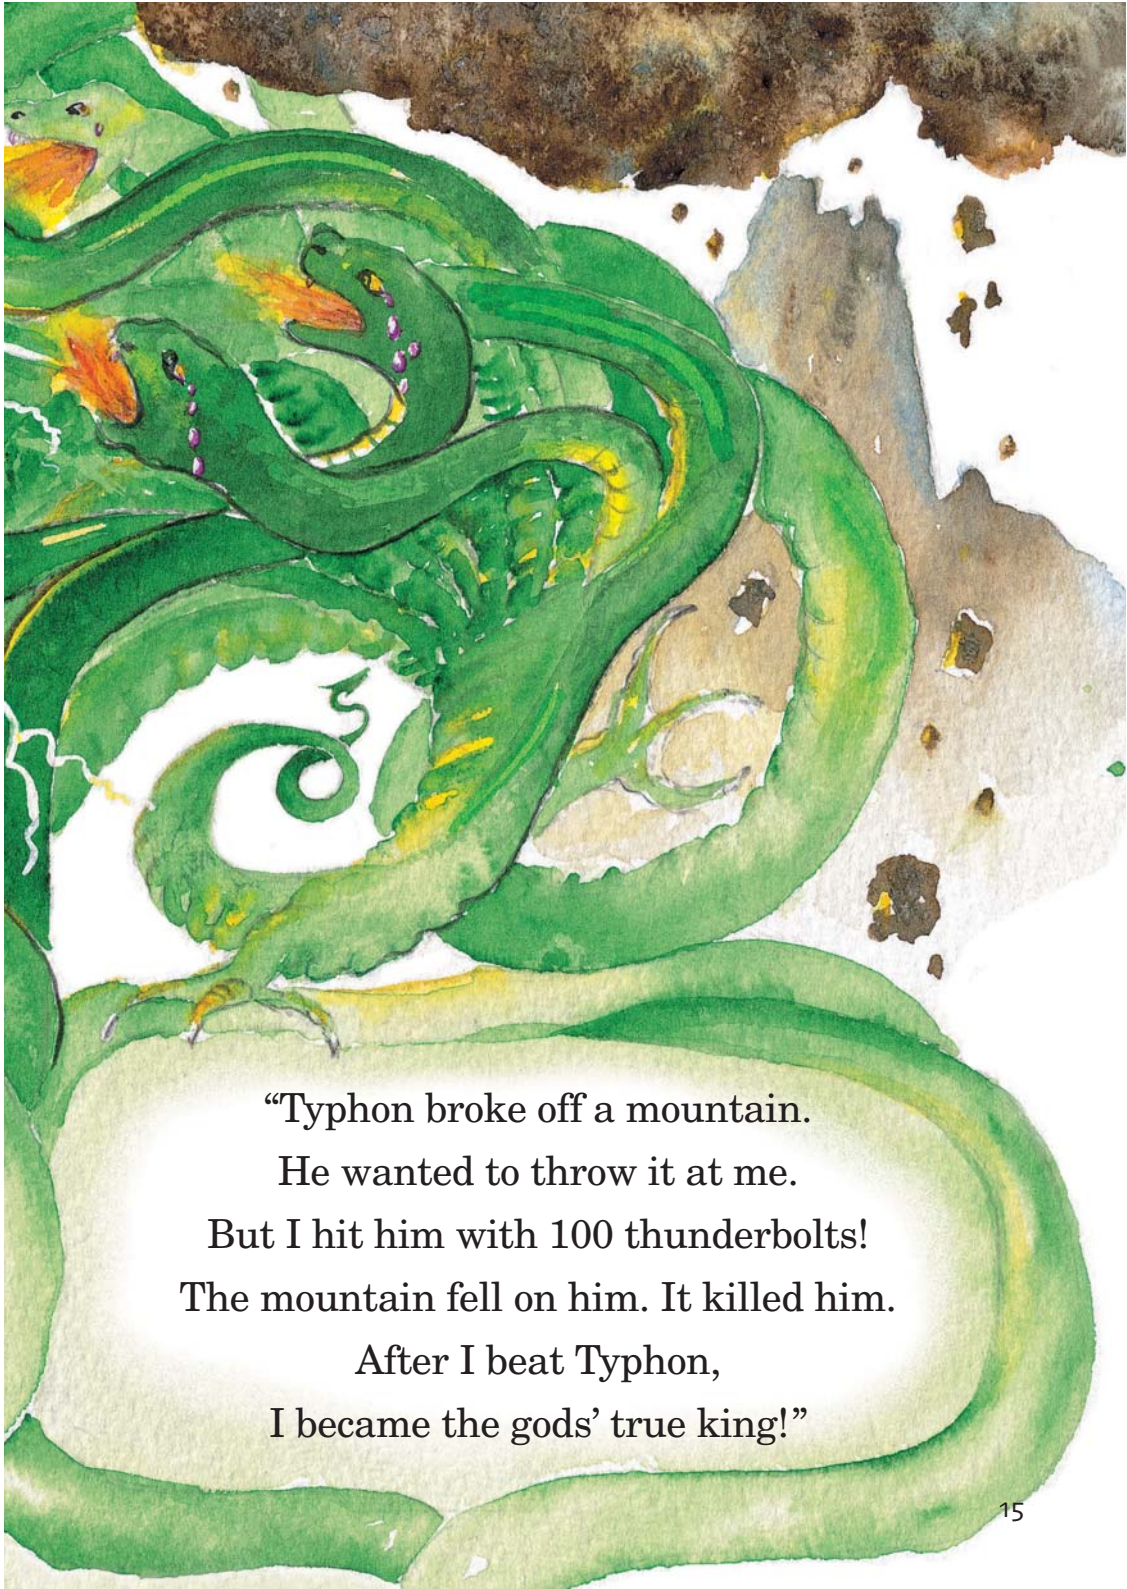

"Hello, Homer!
Yes, I am the chief god.
And I'm the god of heaven and earth."

“Becoming the king of the gods was not easy.
Before me, Cronus, my father was the king.
He was a very mean god.
I fought my father and I won that fight.
That was called ‘The Battle of the Titans.’”

“After the battle,
I fought Typhon, a terrible monster.
Typhon had a hundred ugly heads,
and breathed fire.
Poison came from his eyes.”

“Typhon broke off a mountain.
He wanted to throw it at me.
But I hit him with 100 thunderbolts!
The mountain fell on him. It killed him.
After I beat Typhon,
I became the gods’ true king!”